"ONE OF THE BEST BOOKS OF THE YEAR"

2nd Printing

A Winged Victory

By ROBERT MORSS LOVETT

"One of the best books of the year, a book surprisingly good from every standpoint. It is the story of a woman, a woman convincingly human, from little girlhood to dignified and ripened motherhood."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"A really noble piece of fiction. A tribute to the best possibilities of the American woman. A strong, moving, human story"—Washington Star.

"So human and believable that it is not difficult to imagine that she has just left your fireside, which would be colder for lack of her."—Chicago Tribune.

"An exceptionally good novel having for its heroine one of the most attractive characters of fiction."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"One of the intensely interesting books of the season."—Portland Express.

"Dora is one of the most finely drawn heroines of recent fiction."—Grand Rapids Herald.

"A fine narrative. Audacious but never shocking; intensely human and appealing; true and sweet and uplifting from cover to core."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"A charming and lovable heroine."—New York Sun.

Royal Academy Pictures, 1907

Complete in one volume, quarto, cloth gilt, $1.75 net. A Rembrandt Photogravure of one of the principal pictures exhibited will form the frontispiece. A limited Edition of 500 copies on thicker paper in special binding will also be prepared. $3.50 net

"Royal Academy Pictures" has for many years been recognized as the best and most authoritative representation of the Academy, and its popularity among art lovers in America has steadily increased. Last year the experiment was made of issuing this important publication at a lower price than hitherto, with such a gratifying result the publishers have decided to adopt the same policy in regard to the 1907 issue.

The Book of Photography

Practical, Theoretic, and Applied. Edited by PAUL N. HASLUCK. With 48 full-page plates and nearly 1,000 illustrations. One volume. Pp. xl+744. Size 7 x 10. Cloth, $3.00 net.

"Mr. Hasluck's book seems to us to contain everything about photography that any one should need to know. It has forty-one chapters, the first dealing with the history of the photograph, the next to the last with radiography. Between those two the subject is treated from every point of view, of the professional as well as the amateur."—New York Times.

Wild Life at Home

By R. KEARTON, F.Z.S. Post 8vo. Cloth, $2.25 net. Profusely illustrated from photographs taken direct from nature by the author's brother, CHERRY KEARTON.

The popularity of this fascinating volume has been so great that the publishers have been induced to prepare a new and enlarged edition, which they feel confident will have an even wider circulation than the previous edition. This work forms a concise and practical handbook to Fieldcraft and Nature Photography.

A Girl in Her Teens: and What She Ought to Know

By Mrs. GEORGE CURNOCK. Large 16mo. Cloth, 50 cents, net.

The twelve chapters contain the practical ideas of a mother on the upbringing of a girl. Mrs. Curnock tells girls what they ought to know about themselves and their homes, and she also tells them how they should prepare themselves for womanhood, whether as wives, mothers, or single women. This book is for the girls of to-day and to-morrow, not yesterday. While there is plain talking in her book, there in nothing which need make a mother hesitate for a moment to put it into the hands of her girl.

FICTION

The Frozen Venus

By H. L. LANDER. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50. With 8 illustrations.

"The Frozen Venus" has that high mark of individuality which singles out a book for conspicuous success—the strong originality in its own sphere which characterized such popular works as "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," "Dr. Nikola," etc. The story has such high qualities that a dramatized version has been accepted by Mr. Fred Terry. The hero is a wonderful character, large-hearted enough to stand up to fate in any juncture of events, with epic courage. The woman in whom he wins a wife is worthy of him and he worthy of her, and how he triumphs in his wooing—which, of course, is unconventional—is strikingly told by Mr. Lander in a story which "grips" and "holds" from first page to last. A vigorous picture of primitive life in the Far West and of financiering in London.

The New Macmillan Novels

Mr. Arthur Heming's New Novel SPIRIT LAKE JUST READY

Illustrated by the author

Cloth, $1.50

Mr. Heming has been best known hitherto by his work as an illustrator of W. E. Fraser's stories of the Canadian Northwest. He knows that life of the fur hunters as few do outside the trappers and the Indians themselves. And the Indians of his story are very human, moving in an interesting story as far removed as possible from the stock melodrama.

Mr. William Stearns Davis's new novel A Victor of Salamis

The Daily Chronicle, London, under the caption "The Mantle of Scott?" says:

"Mr. Davis has written a book which, it is not too much to say, entitles him to a place among novelists not far below the author of 'The Talisman.'"

"The spirit of Hellas is thoroughly in it, and so stirring, so truly and so splendidly has our author revived that spirit, that the reader follows page after page with intensest interest, with almost uncontrollable eagerness."—Pittsburg Press.

Cloth, $1.50

Mr. Israel Zangwill's Ghetto Comedies

"Alike in matter and manner this is a book of singular and engrossing interest."—The Spectator.

"These tales are endowed with qualities of genuine pathos, abundant humor, dramatic power and a large and generous measure of human sympathy that infuses his fiction with a subtle and elusive charm."—North American.

Cloth, $1.50

Mr. Jack London's new novel Before Adam

"A story full of incident, unflagging in its interest, and dramatic in its climax."—New York Evening Telegram.

"A remarkable piece of imaginative work, ably done and curiously fascinating," says The Outlook.

Cloth, $1.50

Mr. John Oxenham's strong novel The Long Road

"Without doubt, the most effective novel of the season is that by John Oxenham, entitled THE LONG ROAD. In plot we can recall nothing similar. . . . Its characters are winsomely attractive, and drawn with great dramatic power. The touches of pathos here and there, not forced but suggested, and the most idyllic of love stories, make the book a masterpiece of its kind."—The Westminster.

Cloth, $1.50

Mrs. Marion Foster Washburne's Family Secrets

A gossip entertaining story of an experiment in changing surroundings to fit a lowered income, instead of straining the income to keep up with one's social circle. There is in it a contagious sense of humor which makes for tolerance of the inevitable imperfections of this world, while at the same time there is no lack of sensible helpful suggestions for the minimizing of them.

Cloth, $1.25

Miss Zona Gale's The Loves of Pelleas and Etarre

The delightful story of this charming pair of lovers will be issued very shortly and bids fair to be a book quite in a class by itself.

NOTES IN SEASON.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have set June 19 as the publication day of "Beatrix of Clare," John Reed Scott's newest romance, which promises to be a leader among the new summer novels. At the same time they will be ready with the second edition of Fogazzaro's "The Woman," recently published by them. George Morgan's study of "The True Patrick Henry," announced for this spring, has been postponed until September.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. publish to-day "Growth and Education," by Professor John M. Tyler; "The Causes of the Panic of 1893," by William J. Lauck; "Industrial Education," by Harlow S. Person; a special limited edition of "Some Unpublished Correspondence of David Garrick," edited by Professor George P. Baker; and a limited Riverside Press edition of "The Poems of Maria Lowell." These books complete their list for the spring season.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have just brought out "The Automobilist Abroad," by Francis Mil-toun, author of "Castles and Chateaux of Old Touraine," etc., a record of hundreds of miles of motoring through England and the Continent, which, aside from its charm as a book of travel, will be found valuable to the tourist because of the practical information it contains. The volume has many illustrations—four in color—and minor decorations by Blanche McManus.

THE REILLY & BRITTON COMPANY, Chicago, announce that they will publish on September 1 L. Frank Baum's new book, "Ozma of Oz," with pictures by John R. Neill. In this story Dorothy reappears, together with the more important of the old characters and several new and delightful creations. Mr. Neill's pictures, in colors, are said to be more humorous and better than ever. Typographically the book will be turned out in better form than any previous Baum book.

DODD, MEAD & Co. publish this week "The Gates of Kamt," by the Baroness Orczy, author of "The Scarlet Pimpernel," etc. The story describes the efforts of an Egyptologist to prove that the ancient race of Egyptians, the builders of the pyramids and the great temples, did not die out or lose their identity by being absorbed in the races that later inhabited Egypt. Laughed at by the scientific world he set out, with one companion, to discover some trace of the ancient people. Away in the interior of the Libyan Desert, hundreds of miles from any caravan track, he discovers a country where this ancient race of Egypt lives exactly as it did four thousand years ago. The author has a remarkable imagination, and remarkable skill in giving her imagination striking and vivid expression.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have brought out this week a new novel by the author of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden," (the Countess von Arnheim,) entitled "Fräulein Schmidt and Mr. Anstruther." The story is told in a series of letters written by a young German girl, Rose-Marie, to the English student who lived in her father's house for a time ostensibly to perfect his German, incidentally to fall in love with Rose-Marie. The English father has other plans for his son and the lovers are separated. This is the starting point of the story, which develops skilfully in the letters through a period of intimate friendship to a second wooing, in which Rose-Marie takes an unexpected and thoroughly up-to-date position. The author, as is now generally known, is an English woman married to a German husband, but to her readers she is and always will be plain Elizabeth.

Deeping, G: Warwick. A woman's war: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1907. c. 354 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

In the little town of Roxton are two rival doctors. The woman's war is carried on by the wives of these doctors. One uses all her fine womanhood to wage war against her husband's besetting, inherited temptation; the other, totally unscrupulous, uses every power to ruin her husband's rival through knowledge of his weakness gained accidentally. The first couple have two charming children, who work the saving of their noble father. The good are rewarded, the unscrupulous meet their deserts. Several medical cases are realistically described.

De Morgan, W: Frend. Alice-for-short: a dichronism. N. Y., Henry Holt & Co., 1907. c. 10+563 p. D. cl., †$1.75.

The little girl, who becomes the centre of interest, is first met carrying home a jug of beer, in a London street in Soho. A dense fog envelops her, and a boy runs into her, knocks her down and breaks her jug. In this way she is brought to the notice of the hero, a young artist, who picks her up and carries her to her worthless father and mother. Her parents disappear almost at once from the story, and the girl becomes the protégée of the artist's sister, a lovely character. She grows up a very charming young woman, and has an interesting experience in London society. Her love story is cleverly unfolded and an absorbing plot developed with the aid of an original ghost and a puzzling mystery, which goes back several generations in "Alice-for-short's" history. By the author of "Joseph Vance."

De Vries, Hugo. Plant-breeding: comments on the experiments of Nilsson and Burbank. Chic., Open Court Publishing Co., 1907. c. 13+360+4 p. il. por. pls. D. cl., *$1.50 net.

A scientific book in simple language which should be useful to all botanists, horticulturists, and farmers. The author is the discoverer of the theory of mutation in plant life. Nilsson is the director of the Swedish agricultural experiment station at Svalöf, who discovered the elementary species of agricultural plants. Burbank is the California wizard who has produced many new fruits and plants. The author holds that the method of slow improvement by repeated selection is being supplanted by the high practical value of the elementary species, and that the whole aspect of agricultural breeding will soon be changed.

First published in 1894, since when there have been two reprintings. A study of provincial town life in England at a time when a town was a free, self-governing community. After a general consideration of English towns, Mrs. Green treats of the industrial and commercial revolutions of the 15th century, the common life of the town, the townspeople, and various kinds of towns and their government. Volume 2 takes up several features of town life, especially the relation of the crafts, or guilds, to local affairs, and discusses the governing town bodies or councils in such towns as Norwich, Nottingham, Sandwich and Southampton. Both volumes are indexed.

Mr. Howe is the author of "The city, the hope of democracy." He was commissioned by the Department of Commerce and Labor to investigate the English city. The book is the fruit not only of research, but of prolonged study on the spot in a visit to England for the purpose. The history of the English municipality is sketched in its salient outlines and the present British municipal situation elaborately described and discussed. The book, of course, records the details of the working municipal ownership in its most successful examples, but it also shows the tremendous effects of the prevalence of privilege in British institutions.

The Dean of Lichfield (Eng.) here attempts to show that the Book of common prayer now used by the Church of England "was not in any sense a new creation of the Reformation, but can trace its lineal descent from the primitive liturgies, and through them to the worship of the Jews." In order to prove this he first describes the chief features of the Jewish ritual, and then the changes and necessary modifications made by the early church, emphasizing the doctrine of eucharistic sacrifice. Three concluding chapters consider the question of the eucharistic intercession for the dead, giving Jewish, early Christian and contemporary evidence for its observance.

A detective story having its scene in London. The apparent murder of Sir Clifford Oakleigh, an eminent physician, and the mysterious disappearance of a young girl are the facts upon which a remarkable story is built up. It turns out that Oakleigh had not been murdered. He had always longed to be a woman and to have the pleasure of being loved as a woman. Through profound study he discovers he can change himself at will into a beautiful girl. He thus lives a double life, which has many odd scenes.

Author is professor of geographic geology and head of the department of geography in the University of Chicago. "This volume is intended for students of early college or normal-school grade who have no purpose of pursuing the study of physical geography beyond its elements, but who are yet mature enough for work beyond the grade appropriate for the early years of the secondary schools—the stage when physical geography is usually studied previous to college or normal-school work. No book heretofore prepared has been intended especially for this class of students. The work outlined here is essentially the work covered in the University of Chicago in a twelve weeks' course taken most largely by students who have but recently entered college."—Preface. Author was formerly supervisor of English and history in the Stockton city schools. This book is a direct product of the schoolroom. It treats the presentation of subject matter in the various studies usually taught in elementary schools from three points of view—that of the superintendent or supervisor, of the teacher and of the pupil. The book grew out of the exhibit made by the Stockton schools at the Exposition in St. Louis, and later in Portland, which attracted widespread attention.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALLEGHENY CITY, PA.—E. J. Gittens, who has managed the Library News Company, is going to wind up his business.

BALTIMORE, MD.—E. R. F. Blogg, formerly manager of the retail department of William J. C. Dulany Company, is now connected with the Manufacturers' Record, of this city.

KANSAS CITY, MO.—After twelve years in their present quarters, the Bryant & Douglas Book and Stationery Company will remove, about July 1, to their new store at No. 922 Grand Avenue. They will have a more modern store, new fixtures, and fifty per cent. more floor space than formerly, enabling them to greatly increase their stock.

NEW YORK CITY.—Brentano's have signed a twenty-one year lease of the handsome store in the new Brunswick Building on the east side of Fifth Avenue, between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Streets. The store which Brentano's will occupy is on the southeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Twenty-seventh Street, with a frontage on both the avenue and the street, and a large light basement. They will begin to move their stock next month, and hope to be quite settled in August before the rush of the fall trade sets in.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Excelsior Publishing House has removed from 8 Murray Street to 110 West Twenty-sixth Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—Walter E. Maynard and Effingham Maynard have severed their connection with Maynard, Merrill & Co., which was formed by the union of the firms of Effingham Maynard & Co. and Charles E. Merrill & Co., and incorporated in 1893. The business of the old firm will be continued by Charles E. Merrill, Everett Yeaw, Edwin C. Merrill and Charles E. Merrill, Jr., under the name of Charles E. Merrill Company.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.—Henry R. Johnson, who, fifteen years ago, left the employ of Bridgman in Northampton, to open up a book and stationery business here, has bought a large block of real estate in this city.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JUNE 15, 1907.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

CONSIDERATION OF TRADE GRIEVANCES BY COMMITTEES.

THE stationers of New York, with a view of taking definite action looking toward a betterment of the conditions in the trade of their city, have taken a step in the right direction. Instead of deferring the consideration of the questions at issue between the manufacturers, jobbers and retailers to the conference of the National Association, they have secured the appointment, by the Stationers' Board of Trade, of a committee of six manufacturers and jobbers to meet a like representation of the retailers, appointed by the New York Stationers' Association, on June 19. It will be the duty of this committee of twelve to investigate and study the conditions that now cause misunderstandings and friction, and the result cannot fail to benefit not only the local trade, but must also have a stimulating effect on the trade at large.

It is from such co-operative action that the booktrade also might derive benefit. Thus far the two branches of the trade have taken independent action, which has been effective only on the part of the publishers' association so far as results were concerned. The booksellers' association—though its members individually have supported the action of the publishers—as a body has not been able to do more than make demonstrations at its annual meetings that have not led to tangible results. Yet neither branch of the trade is entirely satisfied that its interests are preserved by the other as well as they might be; particularly is this so with the retailer, who nurses grievances—to the extent of at least eight as expressed in the "Resolutions" passed at the annual convention of the American Booksellers' Association held in this city last month, and a number of others debated but not expressed in "Resolutions."

There is an unrest in the trade that can never be laid in the discussions of a convention, and those who hope that their troubles will be removed by a deliberative body, which they do not even take the trouble to attend, will be doomed to disappointment. Every question brought before a parliamentary body must be referred to a committee for consideration. In many cases such committees devote months to obtaining evidence from every side concerned, besides legal advice bearing on the subject under consideration, before recommending the question for action. In a like manner it seems to us trade questions should be considered.

There can be no question that both publisher and retailer suffer because of insufficient knowledge of causes. Let such a body as the one nominated by the stationers be appointed by the booktrade to thresh out the alleged grievances against each other, and we have no doubt that each branch of the trade will make discoveries which will lead to the removal of unsuspected impediments to harmonious action, as also each branch will learn to sympathize and bear with the other as to its limitations. And while the conditions may not be suddenly revolutionized, yet will the air be clearer and the combined efforts be stronger towards reaching the desired goal—perhaps the first item to be definitely settled.

DINNER TO CELEBRATE WEDDING OF IAN T. NELSON.

THE department heads of Thomas Nelson & Sons in New York City were entertained at dinner at Delmonico's, Tuesday, June 4, by Ian T. Nelson, the youngest member of the Scottish house of Thomas Nelson & Sons. The dinner was in celebration of the marriage of Mr. Nelson to Miss Mandeville, of Australia, the ceremony taking place in Edinburgh on the same day. The event was celebrated simultaneously in London, Edinburgh, Dublin, New York and Australia.

Ian T. Nelson is one of the third generation of Nelsons, at the head of the great Scotch firm, which was established in Edinburgh more than one hundred years ago, and which has been under their active control ever since. The American house was founded in 1854, by the second Thomas Nelson.

At the Delmonico dinner the guests were the eighteen department heads of the New York house, and the Rev. Dr. David G. Wylie, pastor of the Scotch Presbyterian Church, who has been for many years a close friend of leading spirits in the Nelson house. The dinner was served in the largest private suite of Delmonico's, and when the doors of the reception rooms were thrown open and the round table just accommodating the guests was shown, decorated with gardenias and white lilacs, William Thomson, the manager of the American branch, had on his right Dr. Wylie and on his left William Goodson, the secretary of the company. The other guests were as follows: Samuel F. Areson, Charles L. Baldauf, Oscar W. Binkard, Frank Bourg, Llewellyn Bromfield, George Bachmann, John M. Carter, Jr., William T. Dickerson, John J. Hamilton, Alexander C. Keowen, Adolph E. Rauch, David Risley, Harry B. Smith, George H. Tafmadge and Montgomery C. Tiers.

The menu offered the guests was as follows:

Cantaloupes.
Chicken Gumbo.
Radishes, Celery, Olives.
Salted Almonds.
Soft Shell Crabs, Sauté.
Cucumbers.
Saddle of Spring Lamb.
Potatoes, Persillade Parisian.
New Asparagus, Hollandaise.
Roman Punch.
Boned Royal Squabs.
Hearts of Lettuce.
Ices: Strawberry Baskets with Maraschino.
Cheese. Coffee.

At the conclusion of the dinner the health of the bride and groom was proposed by Mr. Thomson and responded to very happily by the Rev. Dr. Wylie. Each member of the party was called on to respond to the sentiment, and the success of the entertainment in this respect was so great that it was decided then and there to form the Dinner Club of Thomas Nelson & Sons, and a committee was appointed to prepare plans for a series of dinners, commencing early in the fall. A cablegram of congratulation was sent to the newly-wedded pair from the table.

The office force of the firm was entertained at a luncheon during the afternoon of the 4th inst., at the Hotel Belvedere, and they in turn voted thanks and congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson.

A solid silver coffee service with salver was sent to the bride as a present from the officers and employees of the New York firm.

WILLIAM G. JOHNSTON & CO.'S JUBILEE.

WILLIAM G. JOHNSTON & Co., the well-known printers, binders and stationers, of Pittsburg, Pa., who this year celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of their firm, gives the annual Basket Picnic to its employees at Rock Point Park to-day. This is the twenty-ninth year that the firm and its workmen enjoy such a holiday, and we have no doubt that every one present will enjoy himself to the fullest. There will be baseball tournaments, races, rope-skipping contests, ball throwing for girls, tugs-of-war, music and dancing from two to nine P.M.

The business of William G. Johnston & Co. was begun on September 29, 1857, in a building that stood on the north side of Wood Street, three doors from the east corner of Third Street, now Third Avenue. It was known as number 57. Needing more room, the next year they leased the building adjoining in the rear, fronting on Third Street, and about three years later the house adjoining on the east, 59 Wood Street, also was secured. After twenty and one-half years in the Wood Street premises, a spacious building on the north side of Liberty Street, facing the head of Wood Street, was secured and occupied from April 1, 1878 until January, 1885, when they moved into their own handsome building on the southeast corner of Penn Avenue and Ninth Street.

In the earlier years of the firm's existence partnerships existed, as the name would imply, but since March, 1881, William G. Johnston has had the sole ownership, though retaining the original firm name. In May, 1881, Harry P. Pears became connected with the house as assistant of Mr. Johnston, and since 1890 has been its sole manager, having as his principal assistants Charles H. Clough, Edward A. Seiple and John C. McCullough. As evidence of the intimate relations between the firm and its employees we need only allude to the fact that it carries on its rolls seventeen persons whose services extend from twenty to thirty-nine years, Miss Kate Devine bearing the palm for longest service. Of the 240 persons now employed, four have been in service fifteen to nineteen years; ten have from ten to fourteen years to their credit, and forty-eight have been from five to nine years in service. Truly, a noble tribute to the sterling qualities of both parties.

THE fact, if it is one, that your competitors misrepresent is not a good excuse for following in their lead. You are on the watch for some distinguishing feature peculiar to your own business, for advertising purposes. If you discover that your competitor's weak point is misrepresentation, make it your strong one, and don't misrepresent.

THE LITERATURE OF THE SOUTH.

"THE SOUTH'S INTELLECTUAL EXPRESSION" is the title of Edwin Mims's contribution to the "Southern number" of The World's Work. Mr. Mims, who is Professor of English Literature at Trinity College, N. C., has written an exceedingly enlightening article upon the literary movement of the South before and after the war. As historians, essayists, novelists, the names of Southern writers and, many of them, for the best and most enduring in American literature—such names as those of Houston, Garner, Bruce, McCrady, Hannis Taylor, Woodrow Wilson, William Garrott Brown among the historians; of Sidney Lanier and Edgar Allan Poe among the poets; of James Lane Allen, Thomas Nelson Page, Joel Chandler Harris, George W. Cable, Hopkinson Smith and Thomas Dixon, Ellen Glasgow and Mary Johnston among the novelists.

A point of interest in Mr. Mims's discussion is the difference between the literary tendencies before and after the war, the birth of and development of the real Southern literature—the better American literature of the South. Irwin Russell, listening to an old negro mammy singing a revival hymn in the backyard of his Mississippi home and fitting words to the tune, ushered in the dialect poem. Joel Chandler Harris began to tell stories in the Atlanta Constitution, gathered from the old plantation in his boyhood—and "Uncle Remus" was soon known around the world. Richard Malcolm Johnston saw in the light of his mature imagination scenes of his boyhood in middle Georgia. George W. Cable depicted with consummate art the scenery and romance of New Orleans. Miss Murfree, with the background of the mountains of East Tennessee, interpreted the life of our "contemporary ancestors." In the eighties Thomas Nelson Page wrote out stories of the old times in Virginia that he had told for a number of years in the social circle of Richmond. James Lane Allen, with a finer culture and with an added note of idealism, set forth the remoter life of the Revolutionary days in Kentucky, and the picturesque charm of the blue-grass country. Still later, Miss Johnston explored the fields of early colonial history, and Miss Ellen Glasgow represented something of the transition from the old South to the new.

THE NOVEL AS A "VAMPIRE."

THE current Academy has an article denouncing the novel as a "vampire." "Those who have anything to say nowadays," according to this authority, "are afraid that no one will read it unless it is expressed by means of fiction; those who have nothing to say, but can catch the trick, put out volume after volume, scraps stolen from the six or seven living novelists and the sixty or seventy dead ones who had dreams or thoughts to sell—volumes that contain not a single genuine thought, not a single sincere emotion, not a single living or lifelike character. While the writer admits that the essay is an uncommonly difficult form to manage—almost as difficult and fascinating as the sonnet—the most important work is done not on the essay but on the mind that conceives it." Make yourself as wise and as witty and as learned as you can and the essay will look after itself. "Mr. Quiller-Couch is pronounced the best living essayist. Mr. Swinburne lives—forever—but writes no more; Mr. Birrell is dead and buried—in politics; the 'works' of Max Beer-bohm were finally collected years ago. Mr. Quiller-Couch knows more, he feels more deeply, he is more alive and more himself than any other."

NEWSDEALERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION AT WORK.

CHICAGO NEWSPAPERS CHARGED WITH BEING A "TRUST."

THE NEWSDEALERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION, an organization of out-of-town newsdealers, has been formed to fight the four Chicago newspapers—the Record-Herald, the Examiner, the Daily News and The American, which, it is alleged, are attempting to enforce a raise in the price of Sunday papers from 5 to 7 cents. It is said that the Hearst papers refuse to deal with any dealer who handles the Chicago Tribune. Various allegations of "strong arm" methods are made against the Hearst papers and vehemently denied by them, who allege, on the contrary, that the Tribune tried to raise its price and failed to connect. Warrants have been sworn out against the four newspapers referred to above, in which they are charged with conspiracy and violation of the Illinois anti-trust act.

AGAINST REMOVAL OF NEWSSTANDS.

THE NEWSDEALERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION is preparing to take action in Newark, N. J., against the order to clear the streets of all newsstands. The Association will fight unless dry goods dealers and others who obstruct the sidewalk are also compelled to clear the walks in front of their stores. The official notices give thirty days to comply with the order, which makes it effective about July 1.

OBITUARY NOTES.

CHARLES TEST DALTON, a writer for the magazines and author of "The Role of the Unconquered," a novel of romantic character, committed suicide on June 11, by cutting his throat in a stable at Deptford, a place for slaughtering cattle in London, Eng. Dalton was born in Vincennes, Ind., September 13, 1877. His father is the head of the Dalton Lumber Company at Indianapolis.

WE regret to hear of the death, on June 8, of Mrs. Clara Fulton Davis, wife of Robert S. Davis, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and mother of the secretary of the American Booksellers' Association. Mrs. Davis was born near West Newton, in Westmoreland County, Pa., and was a descendant of Abram Fulton, a soldier in the Revolutionary war. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh for upwards of fifty years, and was prominently identified with the charitable and religious institutions connected with that church.

EX-DISTRICT JUDGE LEWIS B. FRANCE, lawyer and author, died on June 7 at Denver, Colo. Judge France was born in Washington, D. C., on August 8, 1833, and attended Georgetown College. Studying law, he was admitted to the bar, and removed to Denver, where he engaged actively in the practice of his profession, and edited volumes III. to XI. of the "Reports of the Supreme Court of Colorado." He was fond of outdoor life, and wrote several books based upon his experiences and observations of many trips taken in the State of his adoption. Some of these were "Rod and Line," "Mountain Trails and Parks in Colorado," "Mr. Dide, His Vacation," "Over the Old Trail" and "Pine Valley."

EDWARD JOHN ROUTH, one of the most noted mathematicians in England, died at Newnham Cottage, Queen's Road, Cambridge, Eng., June 7. Dr. Routh was born in Quebec, Canada, January 20, 1831, and at the age of eleven was taken to England. He entered Peterhouse College in 1851, and was Senior Wrangler and Smith's Prize man of his year, 1854. He contributed many papers and essays on mathematical topics to scientific and other publications, and was the author of several important books. Among these were treatises on "Rigid Dynamics," "Statics," "Stability of Motion" and "Dynamics of a Particle." Of the first-named work six editions have been published, as well as a translation into German.

JULIA MAGRUDER, the novelist, died on June 9 in Richmond, Va. Miss Magruder was born at Charlottesville, Va., September 14, 1854. Her father was Allan B. Magruder, editor of the Southern Magazine. She was a niece of General John Bankhead Magruder, the famous Confederate officer. In 1885 her first book was published—"Across the Chasm." This was followed by "The Princess Sonia," published ten years later, and probably the most popular and widely read of her books. Among other books she wrote were "A Magnificent Plebeian," "The Child Amy," "Child Sketches from George Eliot," "Labor of Love," "The Violet," "Dead Selves," "Miss Ayr of Virginia," "A Realized Ideal," "A Heaven Kissing Hill," "Struan," "A Beautiful Alien," "A Manifest Destiny" and "The Thousandth Woman." Only on June 3 she received word that the French Academy, through the Minister of Public Instruction, had bestowed upon her the "Order of Palms" in recognition of literary work.

ALFRED NEWTON, professor of zoology and comparative anatomy at Magdalene College, Cambridge, Eng., an authority on birds, died in London on June 7. He was born at Geneva, Switzerland, June 11, 1829, and was graduated from Magdalene College in 1852. He was the pioneer in Great Britain in legislation for the protection of birds. He brought the subject before the British Association in 1868, and was chairman of the Close Time Committee when Parliament passed the first three acts for bird preservation. He was a great ornitholo-gist and humanitarian, and was often in such official position that he was able to force notable reforms. He wrote the "Dictionary of Birds," (1893-96.) Besides his bird dictionary he wrote "The Zoology of Ancient Europe," "The Ornithology of Iceland," (appendix to Mr. Baring-Gould's work on that island,) "Ootheca Wolleyana," a "Zoology," and "Birds of Greenland." He wrote many articles on the subjects in which he was interested for "The Encyclopædia Britannica," edited "Yarrell's British Birds," fourth edition, and Zoological Record, 1871-'73, and was for five years the editor of The Ibis.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MAX PEMBERTON, one of the best known of English novelists, has nearly completed a serial story, which will be published in the New York Herald side by side with a novel by an American author whose name has not yet been announced. The author whose work is adjudged the best will receive a substantial money prize by a jury of experts.

JOSEPH C. GREW, of Boston, the new third secretary of the American Embassy at St. Petersburg, was presented at the Foreign Ministers' Reception last week. Mr. Grew has lately been third secretary of the American Embassy to Mexico. He has almost completed a book on "Sport and Travel," which Houghton, Mifflin & Co. expect to publish some time in 1908.

PHILIP S. MARDEN has just returned from another vacation trip to the Mediterranean countries. In spite of his duties as chief editor of the Lowell Courier-Citizen he has spent much time in European travel, chiefly in Greece and Sicily and among the islands of the Grecian Archipelago, the result of which is a book entitled "Greece and the Aegean Islands," to be published in the autumn by Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE Times Magazine, which was a continuation of John Brisben Walker's ill-starred Twentieth Century Home, has suspended publication.

ALEXANDER KOCH, of Darmstadt, in the grand duchy of Hesse, Germany, has recently published the half-yearly volume, (October-March,) of his ably-edited Deutsche Kunst und Dekoration. Every form of art is represented, from table decoration to massive architecture, and the various characteristic features are represented in illustrations executed with great skill in every form of reproductive art. To any one who wishes to keep informed on the modern art movement, especially decorative art, will find this magazine invaluable.

It has been estimated by a contributor to the New York Sun that there are about forty publications devoted to Esperanto, many of them written entirely in Zamenhof's universal language. At least one is published in every civilized country in the world except China. Japan has one. France has six or seven. They are all monthly. One, published in Paris, Lingvo Internacia, appeared for some years twice a month, but since the beginning of 1907 has returned to its monthly form. Lingvo Internacia, by the way, is the oldest Esperanto publication in existence, being now in its twelfth year. Another, L'Espérantiste, follows it close with ten years of financial success. In the United States there are two Esperanto papers, The American Esperanto Journal and L'Amerika Esperantisto, published in Boston and Oklahoma City, respectively. The reluctance of American type-founders and builders of typesetting machines to put on the market the accented letters used by Esperanto printers may be one reason why only two Esperanto publications have been started in this country. South America has two, in Chile and Peru. Special professions are taken care of in the Esperanto journalistic world by the Internacia Scienca Revuo with articles on geography, astronomy, geology, mathematics, chemistry, etc.; the Internacia Revuo Medicina and the Flugila Stelo, (the Winged Star,) for stenographers, which is written entirely in Esperanto shorthand. The Roman Catholics have the Espero Katolika, the blind have the Esperanta Ligilo, printed in the Braille raised character. For photographers there is the Foto-Revuo. Tra la Mondo is illustrated profusely. Many of these journals are run at a loss, but the labor is one of love and enthusiasm—an enthusiasm which is regularly fed by the appearance of the paper. There are on record only two instances of Esperanto papers going under. One happened some years ago. The Esperanto papers throughout the world are now girding their loins to do themselves and their afero proud at the coming congress at Cambridge, England, lasting from August 10 to 17. This congress is the third in the history of Esperanto, the first having been held at Boulogne, France, and the second at Geneva, Switzerland, in 1905 and 1906, respectively. Dr. L. L. Zamenhof, who invented Esperanto and who first published his book in 1888, will preside, as before.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

T. J. McBRIDE & SON have just ready "The Midnight Guest," a detective story, by Fred M. White.

THE contract for supplying the New Haven [Conn.] schools with text-books for the ensuing year has been awarded to the Edwin P. Judd Co., of that city. Last year the contract was secured by a Boston jobbing house.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have in preparation a new volume by Hugh Black, to be entitled "Christ's Service of Love." It is a book of communion sermons and meditations, with a little discussion of the service itself, which will have interest for both clerical and lay readers.

B. W. HUEBSCH, New York, has in preparation a work entitled "Religion and Historic Faiths," by Dr. Otto Pfeleiderer, a companion volume to the author's "Christian Origins." After chapters on The Essence of Religion, Religion and Science, Religion and Ethics, etc., Dr. Pfeleiderer reviews the great faiths known to history. The author's approaching visit to America will no doubt create interest in his books.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready the 1907 edition of that most valuable reference annual, "The Statesman's Year Book," with a number of important changes and additions. The sections relating to the armies of the various States, for example, have been entirely rewritten, and a set of diagrams and tables now shows the comparative growth in the past and a forecast of the future of the leading navies. There are maps showing the Anglo-French Nigerian boundary, the Turko-Egyptian boundary, the Aden boundary; and maps and diagrams showing the comparative rental of England, Scotland and Wales in 1860 and 1896.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. publish to-day a volume of "Essays," by Arthur Christopher Benson, being criticisms literary and biographic; "In Dwarf Land and Cannibal Country," a record of travel and discovery in Central Africa, from the east coast at Zanzibar through the Pigmy and Congo forests to the Atlantic, by A. B. Lloyd, author of "From Uganda to Khartoum;" "The Historic Thames," by Hilaire Belloc, with colored illustrations by A. R. Quinton; "Scenes and Shrines in Tuscany," by Dorothy Nevile Lees; the second volume of "An Introductory History of England, from Henry VII. to the Restoration," by C. R. F. Fletcher; also, "Imperial Outposts, from a Strategical and Commercial Aspect," by Colonel A. M. Murray, with a preface by Earl Roberts.

PAUL ELDER & Co. have in press a volume entitled "How to Tell the Birds from the Flowers," by Dr. Robert W. Wood, of Johns Hopkins University, author of "Fluorescence and Magnetic Rotation Spectra of Sodium Vapor and Their Analysis." The volume will be graphically illustrated from designs by the versatile author, in a manner calculated to elucidate the text and to show both the marked resemblances and the saving differences between such birds and flowers as the crow and the crocus, for example, the auk and the orchid, the parrot and the carrot, and the sparrow and the asparagus. The professor was interviewed recently on the subject of his forthcoming work, and the resulting newspaper article described him as "a tall young man, with a long, handsome face full of a certain sad humor."

THE MOODY CORPORATION, New York City, have just brought out a small book on "The Railroad Situation in the United States," by L. W. Terrell, author of "Public Service Corporations," etc., in which the author demonstrates why the issue of new stock by the railroad companies, which are regarded by the public with so much suspicion which has helped to depress the value of such stocks, is necessary, and whether or not such new security issues are to the disadvantage of the shareholder. They have in press a very important work on railroads by Carl Snyder, entitled "American Railways as Investments." It is believed that this book will create more interest and comment among the investors of the country, as well as the general railroad interests than any other single work that has appeared in years.

CASSELL & COMPANY, 43 East Nineteenth Street, New York City, announce the volume of "Royal Academy Pictures for 1907;" "The Book of Photography, Practical, Theoretic and Applied," edited by Paul N. Hasluck, which covers everything about photography that any one should need to know, with 48 full-page plates and nearly 1000 illustrations; a new and enlarged edition of "Wild Life at Home," by R. Kearton, a concise and practical handbook to fieldcraft and nature photography, with illustrations from photographs taken direct from nature by the author's brother, Cherry Kearton; "A Girl in Her Teens, and What She Ought to Know," by Mrs. George Curnock, which contains the practical ideas of a mother on the up-bringing of a girl; also, "The Frozen Venus," a novel by H. L. Lander, giving a vigorous picture of primitive life in the Far West and of financiering in London.

THE INTERNATIONAL GLOBE COMPANY, 115 Nassau Street, New York City, have brought out an educational apparatus of great value in their "International Flat Globe of the World," with its geographical history, edited by Commander Robert E. Peary. The globe is printed in eight colors on one flat disc, two feet four inches in diameter—the western hemisphere on one side and the eastern on the reverse of the disc—showing at a glance oceans, seas, lakes, mountains, international boundaries, colonial possessions, ocean currents, steamship routes, distances between ports, prevailing trade winds, latitude and longitude, cable routes, limits of ice drifts, railroad systems, and the longitudinal time at any point, east or west, by a series of clock faces. The globe may be hung flat on the wall or laid flat on the table, and gives an unobstructed view of the earth's surface, and, being flexible, it can be rolled small so as to go in a trunk or valise. "The International Geographical History of the World," accompanying the globe, edited by Commander Peary, is a handy flexible book of 100 large pages, thoroughly indexed, and practically takes the place of a whole geographical library, because it gives the really important facts on geography in an instantly accessible form. It treats the subject under three heads: (1) Physical Geography, and the Phenomena and Forces of Nature; (2) Mathematical Geography, with Its Interesting Data; (3) National and Political Geography, which really embraces all the activities of the human race. It treats all these important subjects concisely, entertainingly, and with the very latest, up-to-date statistics and science. The globe and the accompanying book will be found as desirable and useful in the home and counting room as in school.

PICK-UPS.

THE TRUTH.—Mr. Dooley recently held forth on the tilt between the President and the so-called "nature-fakirs," in which the philosopher of Archey Road seemed inclined to defend the romancers, when Mr. Hennessey interposed with: "Well, Tiddy Rosenfelt is right. A fellow that writes books f'r childher ought to write th' truth." Whereupon Mr. Dooley retorts: "Th' little precioues wudden't read thim. Annyhow, th' truth is a tough boss in lithrachoer. He don't pay even boord wages, an' if you go to wurruk f'r him ye want to have a job on the side."

WITH characteristic enterprise, a New York press clipping bureau recently addressed Francesco Petrarca, care of Wm. Heinemann, London, notifying him to send five dollars if he wants to know how much publicity his work—"On the Death of Madonna Laura"—is securing. This from a concern which claims that its "Literary Department is absolutely perfect" to an author dead over five hundred years! A short time ago, when Little, Brown & Co. published a new edition of "The Complete Angler," they received a postal card from another clipping bureau addressed to Isaac Walton in their care, soliciting an order for clippings of the review of his new book.

SEE BARTLETT.

Congress finds "Familiar Quotations" a present help in times of eulogy.—Boston Transcript.

A soldier on his prancing steed,
Performs a rash heroic deed;
What words then shadow forth his meed?
See Bartlett.

A girl has beauties which amaze;
But when they would attune their lays,
How do her lovers sing her praise?
See Bartlett.

A statesman fights and toils and frets
To save the land or pay its debts;
What is the eulogy he gets?
See Bartlett.

In short, this glory we call Fame
Is but a gambling poker game,
Wherein each player has for aim
See Bartlett.

—McLanburgh Wilson in New York Sun.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplaced advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

"A Novel Which Is Coming To Its Own"

THE SOWING OF ALDERSON CREE

By MARGARET PRESCOTT MONTAGUE

The author of "The Poet, Miss Kate and I"

Colored frontispiece by W. T. Benda. $1.50

"The Sowing of Alderson Cree" is a story of unusual value, and the author is keenly alive to the beautiful, and in full sympathy with human nature.

At first it went very quietly, disappointingly. Later, when appreciative reviews came in, sales picked up a little. Then more important notice was taken of the book, reviews increased in size and value, and sales gradually grew. Last week one hundred and thirty-eight copies were sold—this week, over six hundred. The reason for this is adequately expressed by Harriet Prescott Spofford in a recent review :

"The book indeed, in spite of its dramatic fire, is pervaded with a quaint and subtle humor, always sweet, always tender. The dialogue is real and true, here simple, here epigrammatic. There are chapters of tranquil beauty and others again written in fire, like that of the tremendous one where Judith rouses the waning fury of her son. Through the whole book runs a delightful acquaintance with nature, softening and sweetening the bitter story as it moves to its golden ending."

P. S.—We have just received a cable order from Australia for an edition.

Important Caution

To Booksellers and the Trade

We control absolutely over fifty separate copyrights covering our publications known as

"The Roosevelt Bears," "The Teddy Bears"
"Teddies B and G"

and all the sub-titles and pictures of these stories. These copyrights were taken out in due legal form by Mr. Seymour Eaton, the creator of the Teddy Bear idea, and we caution dealers against buying books or pamphlets or pictures bearing these titles in any form unless authorized by us and with our imprint thereon. Publishers and the trade are hereby notified that every infringement will be prosecuted by us under the Copyright Laws of the United States, and under these Laws the dealer who handles the goods is liable with the parties who manufacture or sell.

NOTICE!

The new Teddy Bear volume, entitled "More About Teddy-B and Teddy-G, the Roosevelt Bears," will be published under date of September 1st, 1907. Advance sample copies are now being shown to the trade by our traveling representatives, and can be seen at either our New York or Philadelphia offices. Advance sample copies can be furnished to the trade upon application any time after July 1st.

"More About the Roosevelt Bears" is uniform in size, character and general make-up with the "Travels and Adventures of the Roosevelt Bears," which was issued last year, and of which there were more copies sold in one brief holiday season than of any juvenile publication that was ever offered to the trade.

A Small Outlay With Large Possibilities

Promote Your School Book Business

Booksellers can add to the volume of their business materially by developing carefully the sale of school books in their territory. While the margin of profit appears to be small it must be kept in mind that many schools, especially private schools, colleges and universities, order in quantities; the sale-season, though short, is "snappy" and there is a minimum of danger only in accumulating "dead" stock. When you make a customer for school books, be he the school principal or the pupil, you have a customer for other supplies as well and very often you form business friendships with "book-lovers" of the future.

To aid the bookseller in this branch of his business, we publish yearly an up-to-date "Educational List" containing the titles of current school books and their prices, together with a classified index of subjects. This catalogue we supply at a very low rate in quantities with the dealer's own imprint on front page—cheap enough to warrant any bookseller distributing it freely among all the educational institutions in his territory.

TERMS FOR IMPRINT EDITIONS

The Publishers' Weekly

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, news of interest concerning the book trade, lists of "Books Wanted," (an advertising feature which each subscriber can use without charge to the extent of 100 lines per year,) etc., etc. Subscription, $4.00 a year; to foreign countries, $5.00 a year.

The American Catalog, 1900-1905

Vol. I contains a five-year cumulation, Jan. 1, 1900-Jan. 1, 1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. It also contains a directory of over 3800 publishers, with street addresses. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II or Supplementary volume gives the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of The Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i.e., into five alphabets 1900, 01, 02, 03, 04. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, bookdealers, and others as want the full material of The Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50. The set of two, $12.

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, quarto size, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Annual American Catalog

Contains in one alphabet a record of all books published during 1905, under author, title, subject and series entries; also under author's name an alphabetical list of the same titles with descriptive annotations from The Publishers' Weekly, etc. 8vo, cloth, $3.00.

Same catalog for 1906 now ready.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual

Contains the latest catalogues of upward of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names, with smaller lists, fully indexed, at the end of the volume. Indispensable to every one who has any interest in the sale or purchase of books. Large 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

Index to the Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1902, out of print.

The Supplementary Index, 1903-1904, 500 pages, 8vo, cloth, with thumb index, $3.00. The alphabet in this volume is supplementary to the original Index of 1902.

The American Educational List

Contains a price-list of the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. (Published annually.) 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

Whitaker's Reference Catalogue of Current Literature, 1906. (London, J. Whitaker & Sons.)

(The trade price-lists of all the British publishers.) 2 vols., half leather binding, $5.00.

The Library Journal

Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription $4.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 35 cents. Price to Europe or other countries in the Union, 16s. a year; single numbers, 1s. 6d.

The Library Index to Periodicals and Current Events

Published monthly, with a quarterly cumulation (indexing the periodicals taken in most libraries, large and small). Subscription, $3.00 per year. Single monthly numbers, 25 cents; quarterly numbers, 50 cents each.

The Annual Library Index

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and H. E. HAINES. (Published annually) 8vo, cloth, $3.50.

English Catalogue of Books (Annual)

Containing a complete list of all the books published in Great Britain and Ireland in the calendar year, with index to subjects. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

English Catalogue of Books, 1901-1905

The record of these five years in one continuous alphabet. (Seventh volume of series.) 8vo, half morocco, $20.00.

Directory of Publishers

Contains names and addresses of 3876 firms and individuals who issued books in the U. S. from Jan. 1, 1900 to Jan. 1, 1905. (Reprinted from The American Catalog.) 8vo, leatherette, red edges, $1.00.

The Profession of Bookselling

A handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWELL, managing editor of The Publishers' Weekly, author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Three Centuries of English Booktrade Bibliography," etc. Parts 1 and 2. 8vo boards, each $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

Publications of Societies

A provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary and other societies, from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules nearly 1,000 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 8vo, paper, $2.50.

State Publications

A provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Part 1: New England States. Part 2: North Central States. Part 3: Western States and Territories. Part 4, (in preparation) Southern States. (For the complete work $10.)

OGILVIE'S TEACHERS' BIBLES—22 Styles

in minion and bourgeois types. Text Bibles and Bibles with helps and references in 16mo and 8vo sizes.

India Paper Edition, Red Letter Edition, Regular Editions, Sunday-School Scholars' Bibles

Nearly five years ago we were invited to become associated with those Bible publishers who are governed by an agreement to maintain high prices. We refused to do so. The wisdom of our refusal, and its importance to booksellers, becomes apparent when at this time we are able to say that our Bible business is entirely satisfactory, and Bibles of equal quality to ours cannot be purchased elsewhere at prices less than from 25 to 50 per cent. more than we ask for them. JUST THINK THIS OVER.

Any of our books can be purchased of us direct or of your jobber if more convenient to you. Don't pay Dictionary Trust or Bible Combination prices for Dictionaries or Bibles. Buy our books and make more money.
